College of Natural Sciences

Husn Abbasi

My name is Husn Abbasi, and I am a sophomore, Pre Dental student. I would like to be an ASMSU Representative because I love my school, and I want to get involved in the decision making process. I want to incorporate activities that help students deal with stress and their heavy workloads. I’d love to get involved and help students voice their opinions and grievances. I want every student to know their voice matters. If elected, I will do my best to uphold the standards of the College of Natural Sciences and ASMSU.

Jonathan Grant

My name is Jonathan Grant. I am a Biomedical Laboratory Science major and am minoring in Economics. I was appointed to the General Assembly Natural Science seat in February, and have already seen a lot of good action taken by ASMSU in my time. I am running for reelection next year to positively impact the MSU student body. I am in support of taking action and voting topics that are important to students. I want students to see physical change and to show that they have a voice through ASMSU.

Jordan Stomps

The 2016-2017 academic year will mark my tenth year having the opportunity to work with a student government organization, including three years as a President and one as a Vice President. Currently serving as President of the Freshman Class Council here at ASMSU has offered me the profound honor to learn and see in action the talented people who currently lead and serve the student government and the student body. While the Class Council prepares for Battle of the Late Nights, I have experience firsthand of how ASMSU runs and flows as it advocates the interests of students. Many of the skills I have learned from FCC have transferred to other parts of my campus involvement, including my position as Secretary of the Society of Physics Students. Serving on the General Assembly would give me the great privilege of advocating for the College of Natural Science.

Nat-Sci comprises over five thousand students at MSU so naturally it is important that all of our interests are represented in the student government. I believe my qualifications and experience best prepare me to work closely with my fellow classmates, Nat-Sci GA representatives, and student body as a whole. So come election week, vote to make your voice heard and represented in on of the largest and most involved student governments in the country by electing a representative dedicated to the college of Natural Science. Help me bring science into political science. Go Green!

Robert Stinolis

I am a senior chemistry student who seeks to further the MSU community’s commitment to diversity and inclusion, mental health, and sexual assault prevention. I also hope to support the students of the College of Natural Science by being their voice in student government and advocating for the continued and ongoing advancement of science.

Ian Darling

I am currently a junior here at MSU studying physics with a minor in economics. My on campus involvement includes research on psychoacoustics and human hearing with Professor Hartmann, Vice President of Finance on the Interfraternity Council, Order of Omega, and MSUCS’s. I am also a brother of Alpha Gamma Rho, a professional agricultural fraternity. Additionally, I have had internship experience with Summit Premium Tree Nuts in California, and am a member of the Knights of Columbus. I would like to be an ASMSU representative because I am able to represent the viewpoints of many different groups at MSU. I work closely with Greek Life, live with 30+ Agriculture Students, study with members of the College of Natural Science, and have been involved with political groups at MSU. This allows me to understand the importance of diversity on our campus, and because of this I would make a good representative for the ASMSU General Assembly. I have had leadership experience from many different opportunities here, and would be honored to represent the students of this University in this position. A few goals I would bring to ASMSU would include, but not limited to, improving involvement with other smaller RSO’s here, promoting giving back to our students, and finally making sure that ASMSU represents all student view points and not that of a small portion of students. Thank you for this opportunity. I would be honored to represent the College of Natural Science on ASMSU.

College of Business

Joshua Zhou

My name is Joshua Zhao and I’m currently a first-year sophomore from Midland, Michigan. I intend on majoring in finance. I’m running for re-election for representative of the Eli Broad College of Business. I served in ASMSU this year as an appointed representative from the College of Business. I also served as the vice chair of the policy committee as well as a member of the steering committee. In addition to ASMSU, I participate in MSUMUN, which runs the annual high school Model UN conference on the MSU campus. In my free time, I enjoy copiously listening to the Hamilton soundtrack and personally aspire to memorize all 46 songs. Voting for me because you also thoroughly enjoy Hamilton is a perfectly valid and acceptable reason. Aside from Hamilton, I also fancy watching college football, Pretty Little Liars and Modern Family as well as favoriting (I refuse to call it “liking”) tweets.

Rhea Juneja

I am a business student looking to go into Finance. I am currently a member of the National Association of Black Accountants (NABA), and I am also the Vice President of ASMSU’s Freshman Class Council. In addition, I work at the Jack Breslin Student Events Center as an Usher.

If elected as a representative, I will try to improve the business program as best I can. I would propose to provide money for the free tutoring programs that the Multicultural Business Program provides to undergraduate students. Also, I would push to provide more resources for the various business clubs on campus.

Outside of the business community, I would ask students what they think we would change on campus and bring it up at the meetings for a vote.

Sachin Diraviam

Hi! My name is Sachin Diraviam, and I want to be your Business College Rep. I live in Vero Beach, FL, but I lived in Michigan for 13 years before that. On campus, I am involved with the Broad Student Senate and IM Sports teams. If I were elected, I would increase on the admission process for the business college as well as some extra info sessions on the process.

Michael Booth

I am a shaman and will be treated as such.

Alexandra Chapekis

My name is Alexandra (Allie) Chapekis, and I am running to become an ASMSU Representative because I would love to be more active in what happens on campus. I am a sophomore hospitality business major, double minoring in real-estate management and economics. I come from a family of two Spartan parents and a Spartan sister. This means I have loved this school for as long as I have been alive, and I want to help this school as much as I can while I am here to make a lasting impression long after I am gone. My parents are also hard working business owners, so I know the hard work needed to be able to get all the priorities done. On campus, I am part of the Real Estate Investment Club, the National Collegiate Republicans, and Spartans Rebuilding Michigan. As I am getting to know the campus more and more, I want all my fellow Spartans to know what the campus can bring them also. If elected, I will make sure to have an open mind to all that have different ideas. I will have all the students’ voices and opinions heard, helping to enhance their time in the Eli Broad College of Business. I believe funds can be spent responsibly to benefit the MSU Business students by involving more activities for the students and helping better themselves for the future.

College of Social Sciences

Max Donovan-Andrews

Max Donovan is a Junior and a Political Science major. As a feminist and also a disabled student who has experienced discrimination before, Max is dedicated to helping to make MSU a safe place for its students, and advancing in a way that he can create a socially responsible school environment. He transferred into MSU at the start of last semester, and is still learning the many benefits of being a Spartan, but he has plans ready to make the MSU experience more accessible, affordable, and enjoyable for any student who has been forced by circumstances to worry about anything but their academic performance.

Max believes that the necessity of access to academic materials can provide much obstacle as opportunity at MSU, and has a plan to make textbooks and other academic material more affordable to students through a textbook exchange and rental service that would provide books that are compatible with our school’s coursework to students for low prices. It is Max’s hope that this service will simultaneously provide this service while increasing revenue for ASMSU and the services they provide, all without requiring a single peen in extra tuition or tax.

As a dedicated student of political science and what makes policy effective, Max Donovan wants to be your choice for ASMSU representative because he believes that he knows how to save you money, and to solve the problems that matter to you.
Makayla Beauchamp

Makayla Beauchamp will be a sophomore in the College of Social Science. She currently serves on the Freshman Class Council for ASMSU. She is employed as a night receptionist and was recently chosen to be a Residential Assistant for the 2016-2017 school year. Makayla volunteers in her spare time for the MSU community and helps other students. She has a passion for working with others and enriching the lives of her fellow students. If elected as the representative for the College of Social Science, she would seek out the best interests for her fellow students and would be a strong voice for her constituents.

Karl Herbert Ochs

Hello my name is Karl Ochs. I am from a small town on the west side of the state called Hart and currently a senior at Michigan State University. Some quick information about myself: I graduated Shelby High School in 2011. Following my graduation, I went for a year abroad in Germany on a scholarship which I got to visit Congress in DC, the German Bundestag, and the European Union. After my year abroad, I came to MSU to study. I am currently taking two degrees Chemistry and Interdisciplinary Studies in Social Science. I plan on going to medical school after I finish my undergrad degrees. For work experience, I have interned for a congressman and governor. Philanthropy is a large part of my life, that is why I am a brother of Pi Kappa Phi fraternity and do work for the Ability Experience. I have bicycled across Florida and the United States in the name of raising money and awareness for people with disabilities. I hope that the student body will choose me to represent them. I feel that I am prepared to make decisions on behalf of you using common sense and my life experiences thus far.

Sean Pieper

To be elected, I will go straight to the student body; since being at MSU, food waste has always fascinated me; to be elected into ASMSU, I wish to discover techniques that will reinforce in reducing these numbers tremendously. To confront fellow classmates, I will gain an idea of what needs are being met and what is simply over looked. I will discover different ways in which we could distribute food that wasn’t consumed; rather than simply going “tray-less” we could use leftovers to help feed those less fortunate in the community. To be a member of ASMSU, I am bringing a lot of experience to the organization; currently, I am working in the sleep and Memory Laboratory along with the Connect to Protect Evaluation Team. Being a member of two labs has increased my ability of applying theoretical knowledge to actual empirical research. I have learned to value critical thinking, no matter the task at hand, I will find the most useful and simplistic way to solve a problem – while still being sure to get the best result. Simply by being in a lab, I have also gained organizational and intrapersonal skills. I am also a member of the MSU Literacy Corps, twice a week I volunteer at a local elementary school to improve literacy competence. I have always placed the needs of others before myself. To become a member of ASMSU, my college will become my predominant priority—until only the best is given to my fellow Spartans.

Stephanie Djordjevic

Hey, my name is Stephanie Djordjevic. I am extremely involved on campus. I am in a sorority, which is Kappa Kappa Gamma, part of Pre-Law Society, UNAMSU, ASMSU, and a part of a non-profit called No Ceilings Foundation. I want to continue be an ASMSU GA Representative because I am very passionate about my major, and the College of Social Science and wat to be a leader that will be a part of any changes made to better education here at MSU. This year, one of my biggest goals as a GA rep for Social Sciences is to do the best I can at reaching out and seeing what my department wants and needs in order to be more successful.

Steve Cleaves-Jones

My name is Steve Cleaves-Jones and I am running to represent the college of social science through our student government ASMSU general assembly. I am not new to leadership; I have served with the Black Caucus and Black Student Alliance for the past 3 years, currently sitting on board as the Black Caucus Director. I am very service orientated and log in 60 hours of community service each year. I have been apart of plenty movements, initiatives, and culture shaking programs, such as F.A.M.I.L.Y (Forget About Me I Love You), the women appreciation day (presented by caring men), and TRiO, the initiative set to bring resources to first generation students. I’ve also been an organizer in the annual Black Power Rally, MLK Conference, Melanin Café, and Black Caucus Lock-In. Not to mention serving as an intercultural aid last school year. Outside of campus activity, I am a very personable guy. Having had the opportunity to work in the House of Representatives as an intern last year and setting my goals to studying abroad in Egypt before graduating. After graduating I plan to take what I’ve gained here at MSU and join the Peace Corps for a few years. As representative, I really want to set initiatives spreading awareness about the importance of people in this college. I’ve heard negative stigmas about the college of social science and particularly interdisplinary studies. I believe it is important to educate our campus about our program, because there may be students who are more fit for it but don’t even know it.
Lyman Briggs

Chineze Mbanugo

Hello! My name is Chichi Mbanugo, and I want to be your General Assembly Representative for Lyman Briggs College. As a sophomore student and a chemistry lab LA for Briggs, I have gotten to know the different members of the Lyman Briggs community—faculty and students. Because of this, I feel that I would represent the needs of everyone in a fair and honest way. Vote for me!

James Jabara

I am James Jabara, from Fowlerville, MI. I am a freshman studying Physiology at Lyman Briggs College and enjoy fishing, snowboarding, and golfing in my free time. My platform for my campaign is based upon providing an extraordinary learning experience for all students in Briggs. My first order of business would be to reform chemistry lab. Many students have displayed displeasure toward the organization of the courses and with a combined effort from students and faculty we can make it a more worthwhile experience. In addition, Lyman Briggs is a living learning community; along with that title comes a heightened level of academics. Students at Briggs shouldn’t have to pay to print assignment after assignment. Our tuition should have luxuries like printing built into them. If I get elected, I will work to get Briggs students access to free printing. Additionally, if elected I would hold bi-weekly interaction sessions for Briggs students to communicate their concerns to me. I am an active student on campus, participating in IM sports, being a member of the Spartan Pre-Professional Club, and owning my own business: The Middle News. I would like to be an ASMSU representative because I believe I have the traits that cater to listening to issues and preparing a solution for them. With a past based in leadership of sports teams, Boy Scouts of America, and a startup company, I have confidence in the idea that I am a worthy student to represent Lyman Briggs in ASMSU’s General Assembly.

Nathan Elwood

Hello, My name is Nathan Elwood and I am a Biochemistry major within Lyman Briggs College. I am currently a member of the Honors Students Actively Recruiting, Holmes Hall Association, Residents Hall Association in which I represent Holmes Hall, and a current member of ASMSU where I represent RHA. I would like to represent the Lyman Briggs College as an ASMSU representative in order to be its voice in the student government matters and to increase my involvement with ASMSU as a whole. I would like to continue my goal of being involved in ASMSU, an example being my involvement with the sub-committee on a Healthy Campus Initiative and in the future, possibly even head a committee. I would like to see ASMSU get more involved in students’ lives and I aspire to be a part of that plan. ASMSU is a great organization and I would be honored to continue to be a part of it as the Lyman Briggs College representative.

Rachel Jansen

Rachel Jansen is a Lyman Briggs sophomore, pursuing a degree in Neuroscience. As an Honors College student, Rachel is committed to supporting the academic experience of her peers, and she spent her first year on ASMSU’s general Assembly serving on the Academic Affairs Committee. In her work on this committee, she has stimulated discussion on academic advising during AOP and has collaborated with the Vice President of Academic Affairs to write legislation advocating for advising reform. She is also a member of MSU’s IT Student Ambassadors Committee to advocate on behalf of the technical needs of students. She has been honored to represent the voice of MSU’s science minded students.

Rachel’s goals for the 53rd session involve advocating for Wi-Fi in all residence halls, continuing to push for AOP and academic advising improvements, improving student health in collaboration with the Healthy Campus Initiative, and taking on leadership roles in AMSU committees.

Marc Maldevar

I am heavily involved in the MSU community. In my first year here, I have joined H-Star, Medlife, the Honors College First Year Council, and become Vice President of the MMG (Microbiology & Molecular Genetics) Club. In addition to this, I have been the Lyman Briggs ASMSU Representative for the year while participating on the finance committee. If elected, I plan to continue my service in ASMSU by representing my constituents and work towards bettering the community as a whole by supporting and introducing initiatives in the General Assembly within ASMSU.

James Madison College

Tyler VanHuyse
Hello All,

My names is Tyler Van Huyse and I am the current James Madison College General Assembly Representative. This year I devoted my time in and out of the General Assembly to ensure all students on this campus, regardless of race, ethnicity, culture, sexual orientation, disability, or even class standing felt safe and secure so they could grow as a person and a student. I hope to return to the General Assembly next year so I can continue my work for not only James Madison College students, but all students on this great campus.

Daniel Eggerding

My name is Daniel Eggerding. I study Social Relations and Policy, and am minoring in Spanish. I’m a first year transfer from Grand Rapids Community College. At GRCC, I worked in leadership roles through student groups to engage students in community involvement. For example, I helped by registering students to vote and raising awareness for civic duty. When coming to MSU, I have remained persistent with my own campus involvement and student engagement. Here, I served as the Communications Director for MSU College Democrats, worked with presidential candidate groups, and protested side by side with groups like LiberateMSU and against other discriminative rhetoric. As an ASMSU Representative for JMC, I would work to serve my peers and express their aspirations and concerns. I believe by working together, ASMSU can conceptualize pragmatic, progressive goals that can benefit every student, our campus and our community. I am particularly passionate about issues regarding inequality, often involving topics like race, gender, and sexuality. In the short time I have been here, I have seen issues specifically regarding race and gender. The SAFE program on D2L has proved to be and effective resource in battling sexual assault, through online training and in person resources. Building off programs like SAFE, we can ensure that every student feels safe, welcome, and at home at MSU. No person should face discrimination at any level, whether it be personal or institutional. Other goals of mine would include equal opportunity for our MSU community. To me, reducing inequality should not be about equal outcomes, but should be focused on equalizing opportunities.

Brieann Sauer

My name is Brieann Sauer and I am a sophomore in James Madison pursuing a degree with honors in PTCD and a minor in Political Economy. I currently have the opportunity to work with numerous student organizations as President of Students for Gretchen and Students for Sanders, as a sister in the Delta Phi Epsilon Professional Foreign Service Sorority, and as a committee member on College Democrats. Additionally, I have the great experience to work on Gretchen Driskell’s Congressional Campaign fighting tirelessly to ensure that the government represents all constituents equally. My dedication to championing change makes me that much more committed to each and every one of you. A strong ASMSU representative is essential to make sure the student body has a collective voice in all decisions that impact our education and I have full confidence that I am able to represent my fellow students well. Raised with the knowledge that anyone and everyone deserves a chance to be heard, I love the involvement that ASMSU allows students to have within our campus and greater community.

I graciously accepted an appointment to ASMSU at the end of February, although with only two months left in the assembly, I didn’t have the chance to complete what I set out to accomplish, such as completely overhauling the way voter registration is done on campus. You deserve a representative that is engaged and willing to fight for you and I assure you I am eager to do just that if I am reelected.

Katherine Rifiotis

Hey everyone! Most of you know me as Cookie, I am an international student here at state, born in Brazil and of Greek heritage. Therefore, I am a part of Brazuca, the Brazilian Student Organization and the Hellenic Student Association. I would love to represent the best college at Michigan State, the James Madison College! Within Madison, I am majoring in CCP and PTCD, and I am also a member of the Madison Academic Diversity Initiative. I currently represent the Freshman Class in the ASMSU Council, as secretary of the e-board, where we plan events and advocate for better academic and living standards across campus.

If elected, I will ensure greater voicing of all Madisonians, through our media platforms, where weekly posts will ask for feedback and suggestions. With that I will also create a bulletin page in Case Hall to inform students of our achievements at ASMSU. At General Assembly meetings I commit to promote engagement events that pertain to inclusion and academic development. #VOTE4COOKIE

College of Arts and Letters

Elena Hayes

My name is Elena Hayes and I am completely my freshman year, majoring in Spanish. It would be an honor and privilege to represent the College of Arts and Letters in the ASMSU General Assembly. My home is in Buffalo, NY, but I chose to attend MSU as an out of state student because I was drawn to the excellent academic standing and worldwide reputation of our amazing university. My older sister also attends MSU, so Spartan pride runs in the family! I am currently active in Greek life as a member of Omega Chi, and an involved resident of the East neighborhood in Holmes Hall. As a member of Chi O, I have been a dedicated volunteer raising money for the Make A Wish Foundation at successful fundraisers including a car wash, Tropical Smoothie and Buffalo Wild Wings event. I am running for ASMSU General Assembly because I want to put my energy and natural talent for leadership to work on your behalf. I am committed to mentor strong relations on campus. I want to share ideas on how to make our already excellent school educational experience, and quality of life even better for all students. I pledge to work hard to merit the trust and confidence you place in me.

Asmaa Walton

I welcome the opportunity to become a member of the General Assembly of ASMSU. I would like to be able to contribute my ideas to the positive steps our university is currently taking. I will use my knowledge gained from the other leadership roles I hold on campus and in the community. I am the President of Pretty Brown Girl Michigan State Chapter, as well as President of the Michigan State Chapter of Student Advocates of the Arts. I am also a Community Relations Coalition intern and I sit on the East Lansing Arts Commission. I would like to have the opportunity to contribute my input in a setting where it will be considered and appreciated. If elected I will use my position to speak for the students on campus who feel unseen and unheard.

College of Agriculture and Natural Resources

Mallory Verch

Hi! I am Mallory Verch and I’m going to be a sophomore in the fall, majoring in Fisheries and Wildlife. Besides being involved in ASMSU, I am also a violinist in the MSU Concert Orchestra. I would like to continue representing the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources in the General Assembly because it provides many opportunities to be involved in my college and the University. I have learned so much from ASMSU this year about collaboration and have expanded my leadership skills. I hope to keep developing these skills and to make a difference at MSU. If reelected, a goal of mine would be to make students more aware of ASMSU and all it does for the student body and promote student involvement. Meeting with students to hear their voices about improvements or suggestions for CANR is very important and would be a priority of mine. It has been a great first year with ASMSU and I am hopeful for this opportunity to continue.
Isaac C. Edikauskas

My Fellow Students,

My name is Isaac Edikauskas and I am a first-year student in the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources. It has been a pleasure to represent CANR through the ASMSU this past semester.

It is my goal through ASMSU to provide the best Spartan experience for current students as well as those who will follow in our footsteps. I believe that at MSU we are paving the way for a brighter future for the generations to come and as your representative I recognize and accept the responsibility to address the unique needs of the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

I look forward to another year as your representative and hope that you will stand with me as I have stood with you to ensure your voice as Spartans is heard. Please contact me with any comments, questions, or concerns. Thank you for your consideration. Go Green!

Kera Howell

My name is Kera Howell, and I am from Fremont, MI. I am a sophomore studying Agriculture, Food, and Natural Resource Education. I am currently the President of the MSU Leadership in Environmental and Agricultural Fields (LEAF), within the CSUS department. I am also involved in Camp Kesem at MSU, the RISE program through MSU and the newly formed Undergraduate Executive Council (UEC) in the CSUS department. I also play intramural sports on campus. I want to get involved in ASMSU to be a bridge between students in the College of Agricultural and Natural Resources and activities that happen through the University. I believe that being able to bring attention to the wants of students from my college is necessary to get full involvement of students throughout the University. I hope to plan events that could include more environmental and agriculture activities throughout the University and help to spark student interest and knowledge about what is currently happening in our environment. A goal of mine through being elected onto the General Assembly through ASMSU would be to help more students become involved in clubs within our prospective colleges, and help students become more connected to others at Michigan State University.
Makenzie Bosworth

My name is Makenzie Bosworth, and I am in the Class of 2019! I am a student of the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources studying Environmental Economics and Management with minors in Environmental Studies and Sustainability and Peace and Justice Studies. I am a RISE student (Residential Initiative on the Study of the Environment), a part of my Resident Hall Government, and a write/actor for the MSU telecasters. I would be honored to be elected to be on the General Assembly of ASMSU because I am very passionate about change. I want to represent the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources so I can be the voice of my peers and make sure that social justice and environmental well-being is always considered in the decisions being made on campus. In the future, I hope to work in the field of environmental and social policy. I want to work toward making the world a more positive, equal, and ultimately happier place, starting with MSU’s campus.

Jacob Rothert

My name is Jacob Rothert. I am running for ASMSU General Assembly Representative for the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources. I am currently a junior studying Agribusiness Management specializing in Food Industry Management. I have been very involved on campus during my time at Michigan State University having served two years as a representative on the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources Student Senate. I am also currently serving as the Vice President of External Relations on the Michigan State University Interfraternity Council and as a Commissioner on the University Student Commission of the City of East Lansing.

I was inspired to run for this position after observing our college and its interests consistently being under represented in ASMSU. I have also been disheartened by the wasteful spending and partisan legislation being pushed through ASMSU which is not representative of the student body as a whole. When elected as representative I will fight to bring common sense, fiscal responsibility, and accountability to ASMSU while ensuring that the interests of all students are being represented. This April I’m asking for you to vote for me Jacob Rothert, a common sense conservative leader as your ASMSU Representative.

College of Engineering
Arshdeep Kohli

My name is Arshdeep Kohli and I am a sophomore, Electrical Engineering major. I currently collaborate with a team of professors in professional research and am involved with MRule, a diversity club. Since Fall 2015, I have been involved in ASMSU’s General Assembly, and plan to use the knowledge and experience I have gained to represent the College of Engineering. I plan to make and pass bills that benefit engineering students and the student body in general. Furthermore, I look forward to communicating with students and helping them out. If you have any questions or concerns, contact me at kohliars@msu.edu and I will be happy to help you.

Jessica Hauda

College of Engineering Representative Candidate

College of Communication Arts and Sciences

Joshua Slivensky

My Fellow Spartans,

My name is Joshua Slivensky and I have had the pleasure of representing the College of Communication Arts and Sciences within ASMSU.

During that time, I have been focused on using my representation at ASMSU to improve the student experience in sensible ways that will benefit all current and future Spartans. To accomplish this, a representative must remain actively involved. I am proud to say that I have perfect record of attendance at General Assembly and committee meetings since my appointment at the beginning of this academic year.

I hope you will support me in my goal of furthering my commitment to serve my fellow Spartans. As always, please reach out with any questions or concerns you may have about me or what we do at ASMSU by emailing me at slivens7@msu.edu.

Thank you for your consideration. Go Green!
Residential College of Arts and Humanities

Rebecca Tresnak

For the past school year, I have been a representative for the College of Arts and Humanities. I have also been heavily involved with the organization, My Brothers’ Keeper, and have helped in the creation of a My Sisters’ Keeper program. I would love the opportunity to continue to be the voice of all Arts and Humanities students, and to help them become more involved on campus.

Katelynn Warfle

I am an RCAH and premed. I joined ASMSU as an RCAH representative in November 2015 and I would love to continue in that position. I am involved in the Pre-Med Association, The Students of Osteopathic Medicine Association, RCAH Ambassadors, and I work with the production staff at the Breslin Center. If I am elected I want to continue to create student interest at Rcah with ASMSU and get more involved at RCAH with ASMSU and get more involved with policy committee and Its On US.

College of Music

Emily Doherty

I am currently a junior Music Education student in the oboe studio. I have been the College of Music Rep in ASMSU for the past year and would love the opportunity to continue the progress that we have made in the 52\textsuperscript{nd} session. Next year, I hope to make integration and inclusion between different colleges a priority. Continuing to emphasize the importance of diversity and inclusion on campus will allow students to be better prepared to succeed in the workplace and understand various perspectives to work with others. By electing me to be your representative you are enabling your own voice to be heard within the greater student government.

Isaiah Hawkins

Isaiah Hawkins is currently a Freshman Music Education Major, with a focus in Voice as his instrument. His shining moments around campus include singing in halftime shows for both football and basketball games, opening a concert at the Wharton, and holding up Sparty on the ASMSU homecoming float. The majority of his time outside of governance goes towards being a tenor and vocal percussionist in State of Fifths, an a cappella group on campus that has many performances around campus and is a consistent regional semifinalist in the ICCA (the competition featured in the movie "Pitch Perfect"). Isaiah is running for reelection to his position on the General Assembly to continue being a part of fixing issues that affect the MSU student experience. He has previously spoken out especially on issues of diversity and supporting events for students on campus. Isaiah also plans to get even more involved in advocating for issues within the student body, recently joining the Student Advisory Councils for both the College of Music and the Honors College.
